A.P., Local Content Specialist, a Global Technology Company in Switzerland

There are three main benefits of working with Localex: Good communication, quality translations, and on-time delivery without exception. These are exactly what I, as a customer, am looking for and I can say without a doubt that Localex is one of the best agencies I have worked with.

The fact that each job is confirmed within minutes, cost is also confirmed before the job is started, and on-time delivery occurs every time provides me with peace of mind. I can be sure that the job is not missed, volume or cost is not out of range, and that I will have it when I need it, without needing to send other reminders.

Besides the obvious benefits, good quality translations also mean that I am saving time. We are using internal, native-speaking proofreaders who are also specialists in marketing/the industry. Changes they make are extremely rare and these are mostly preferential. This is not a small thing for such a large volume of translations we do together with Localex, especially considering that we have a lot of technical content. If the proofreader just confirms the translation is okay, this means I don't have to send other emails for corrections and wait for them to be implemented.

Congratulations to the management and translators for providing such overall quality and a professional service! I would highly recommend this agency to anyone!

O.R., Operations Manager, a Leading Multi-Language Vendor (MLV) in Poland

Most of all, we have gained a stable and reliable Turkish partner we can depend on. If I have an urgent query, I know I will have a fast and solid answer from Localex. Localex provides a good quality translation and their wide experience makes them my first-choice vendor for English-to-Turkish projects. All our Project Managers are satisfied with the cooperation with Localex.

G. T., Project Manager, a Leading Multi-Language Vendor (MLV) in Latvia

Localex has been our main Turkish provider for the past two years. Working with them has greatly increased our opportunities for Turkish projects. We have always received on time and accurate translations from Localex. Their fast response to emails and ability to manage urgent projects is one of their main strengths. With the help of Localex, we have been able to increase the volume of Turkish translations and offer excellent quality to our clients. We highly recommend Localex to anyone looking for fast and reliable Turkish translations.

S.E., Project Manager, a Leading Multi-Language Vendor (MLV) in Hungary

Localex as a partner has always been trustworthy, exact, professional, and prompt. I can always be sure that a translation project sent to Localex will always be handled promptly and the turnaround time is more than acceptable. Localex uses a wide spectrum of CAT tools and has a linguist pool that can translate and review all kinds of fields of texts.
